Social Season Opened Tuesday Evening—Prize Winners.

The Central Athletic club successfully opened its social season Tuesday evening with a whist in the club rooms in the Stead building, providing a thoroughly enjoyable evening for a good number of patrons. On this opening night of their series the prizes were taken by the following: First, Joseph Callahan, a stickpin; Miss Nora Dunleavy, a handbag; second, David Patton, a necktie; Miss Mary Sullivan, a pretty brooch. Crabbage was also provided for those who preferred this game, at which Jack McGrath came out first and Thomas Hogan a close second.

Orangeade was served during the evening with the following whist committee in charge: Thomas Kelly, Fred Busch, Timothy Fields, Fred Congdon and Jeremiah A. Desmond.

Where Dahlias are Growing.

In this year of drowsiness and scarcity of bloom, it is refreshing to learn that there are great fields of dahlias blooming as near to Norwich as Westery, R. I., where at the Hill Crest dahlia garden, there are about 6,000 plants in bloom, 500 of which are of the Holland peony variety and 5,000 of the best cactus, tree and shrub varieties. This floral picture—really a floral museum—interests dahlia fanciers hereabouts and the cordial welcome always extended to visitors makes it a popular attraction to all the readers of The Bulletin who visit 65 Granite street, Westery, R. I. This year's crop of dahlias in bloom has never been seen before in this part of the country.

St. Mary's Society Meeting.

There was a good attendance Tuesday evening in the building on Broadway at the regular monthly meeting of St. Mary's A. & B. society, at which President John W. Shea presided. Jeremiah A. Norris was secretary pro tem. Two new members were initiated. The chairman of the entertainment committee reported progress made on the Summer Carnival to be presented by the society, stating that Professor Maher had been in New York this week securing suggestions and arranging some details in connection with the production. The report was accepted and the committee commended for the satisfactory progress that has been made with the rehearsals.

is SOMETIMES art. More often it is just plain charcoal.

When selected willow wood is converted into pure charcoal it becomes good medicine. It becomes an active absorbent, takes up the gases generated in dyspepsia, corrects excessive acidity of the stomach and sweetens the breath.

Among the simple remedies for indigestion or a foul stomach you can find nothing equal to charcoal correctly prepared and rightly taken.

SMITH'S CHARCOAL TABLETS are made of pure willow charcoal, pure cane sugar with just enough pressure to hold them together. We offer them to you a perfect charcoal tablet for a bad stomach—try them and see how good they are.

MANUFACTURE IN 1935.

The Massachusetts Figures Show the Results of Business Depression—Output of the Cities.

The state bureau of statistics publishes today its annual returns of manufactures, covering the year 1934. Some 6444 establishments figure in the report and show a decline in value of goods produced from $1,344,431,255 in 1934 to $1,172,508,572, a loss on account of the general depression in industry of $171,922,683, or 14 per cent. The boot and shoe industry, the leading one of the state, shows a decline in output for the year of 9.9 per cent, while the cotton goods output declined 10 per cent. The total amount of capital devoted to production in 1934 was $11,947,555 as against $10,557,756 in 1934, an increase of $1,389,799 or 12.5 per cent. The average number of wage earners employed in manufacturing industries in 1934 was 480,124 as against a total of 539,352 in the preceding year, a decline of 59,228 wage-earners, or 11.08 per cent. The small number of wage earners in 1934 was in any month, on an average, was 333,588 and the greatest 570,712, the range between the two being 17,124, or 4.8 per cent.

The 33 cities of the state show in all cases a decline in the aggregate value of manufactured product turned out in 1934 as compared with 1935.

CONNECTICUT FLAG?

Possibility That Peary May Have Carried One to Pole.

Bristol people are much interested in Commander Peary's successful trip to the north pole, inasmuch as he had with him at the time, in all probability, a flag presented him in Bristol on a night in May, 1907. Commander Peary was in Bristol to lecture under the auspices of the Bristol sub-division of the Red Cross and made a deep impression on his audience. Shortly before he appeared in Bristol the late Colonel Frank W. Cheney of South Manchester sent to Bristol a dozen of the largest and finest silk flags that the company manufactures. He also sent word to present them to the explorer that night.

Just as Commander Peary appeared on the platform in the armory that night Rev. Arthur J. Cheney, pastor of the local Methodist church, made a presentation speech in which he suggested to Mr. Peary that in the event of his ever reaching the north pole he place one of the flags there. Commander Peary thanked Colonel Cheney and the Bristol people for the present and in words that were now clearly remembered assured the clergyman, Colonel Cheney and the audience that if he ever reached the pole he would certainly plant one of the flags there, no matter what other flag he left.
